Mrs. Edna Hoffman

We, the January and June graduating classes of 1957, dedicate our book to Mrs. Hoffman and Mr. Montie for their fine guidance and teaching.

Mrs. Hoffman taught us not only how to understand mathematics, but how to use it in our future lives. Also, those who were in Future Teachers' Club will never forget her helpful guidance in this career.

To You

Mr. Montie taught us how to read, write, and speak correctly, and how to understand what our English language is all about. He was also the ever ready, guiding, disciplining, inspiring coach of the tennis team.

For all that you've done, there is not enough thanks. Therefore, we can only say - Thank you so much, and we are very proud to dedicate our book to you.

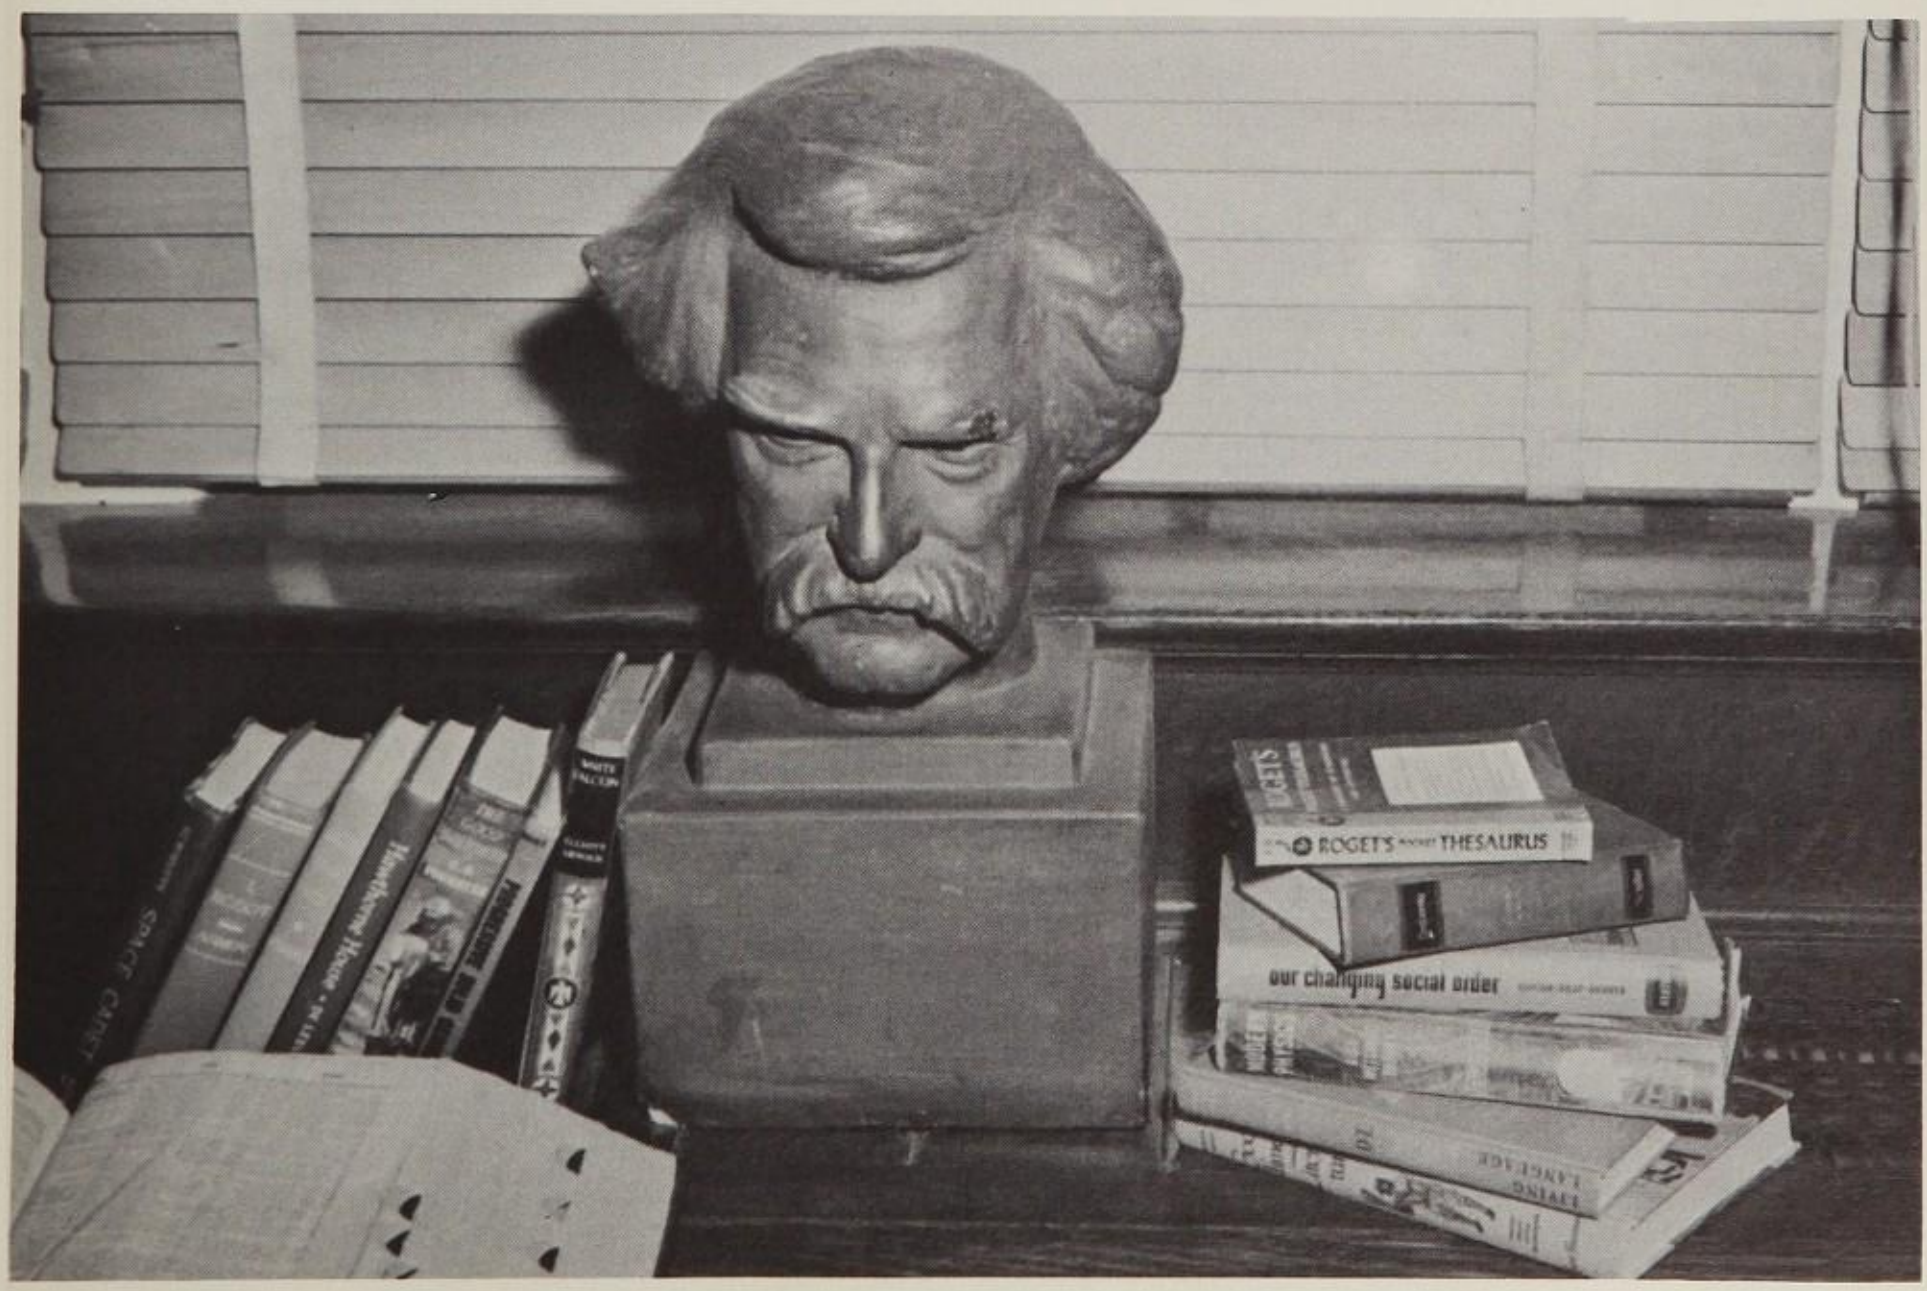
Dear Class of '57,

Now that we're all through — commenced — we have time to look back and remember. Graduation was not just a series of courses or a number of hours culminating in a certificate. It was also a series of hurdles that initiated us into the realm of a graduate.

Everyone of us had to experience a shaky voice and trembling hands while giving our ten-minute speech. Then there were those blushing discussions on love and marriage in sociology, the frustrating five-minute timings in typing, and what senior will ever forget hearing "To be or not to be," ten times in a row. Add to these painless events the piles of homework and the teachers' jokes (?) and what will appear? — A graduate, who spent most of his time preparing .....

. . . . . with book and brain for classes



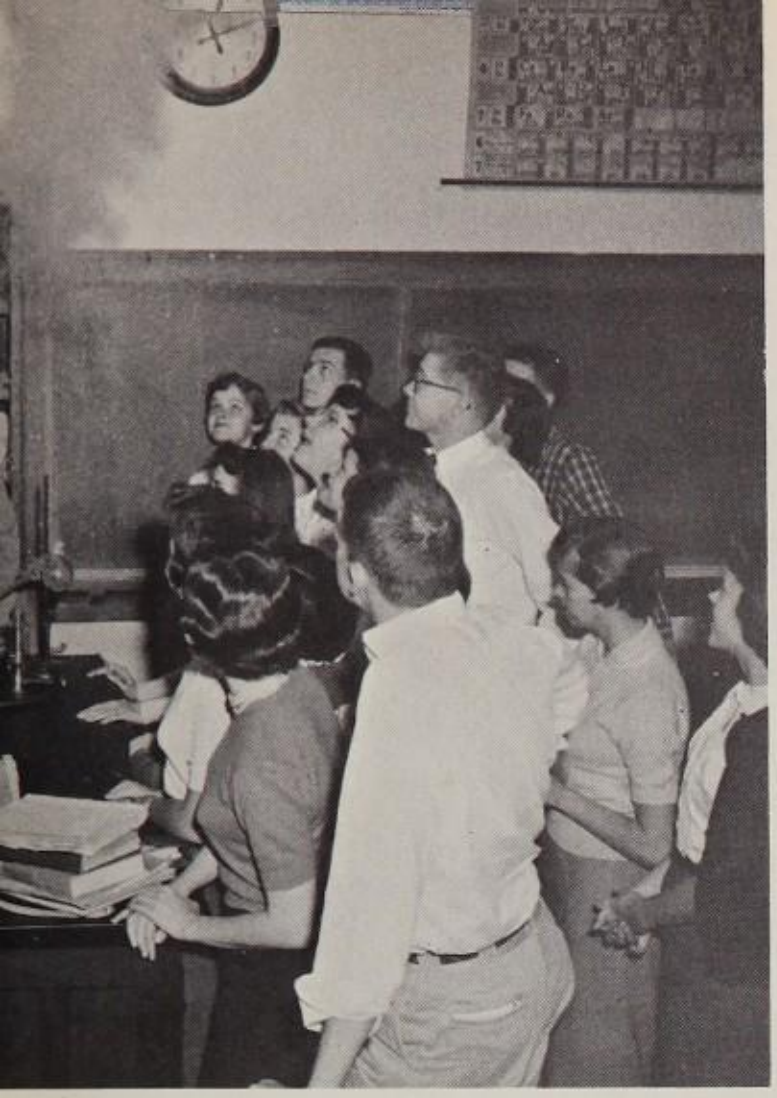
Carolyn Jemison and Larry White peer intently at a physics experiment while Meg Yeamens and Preston Kneeshaw take notes.

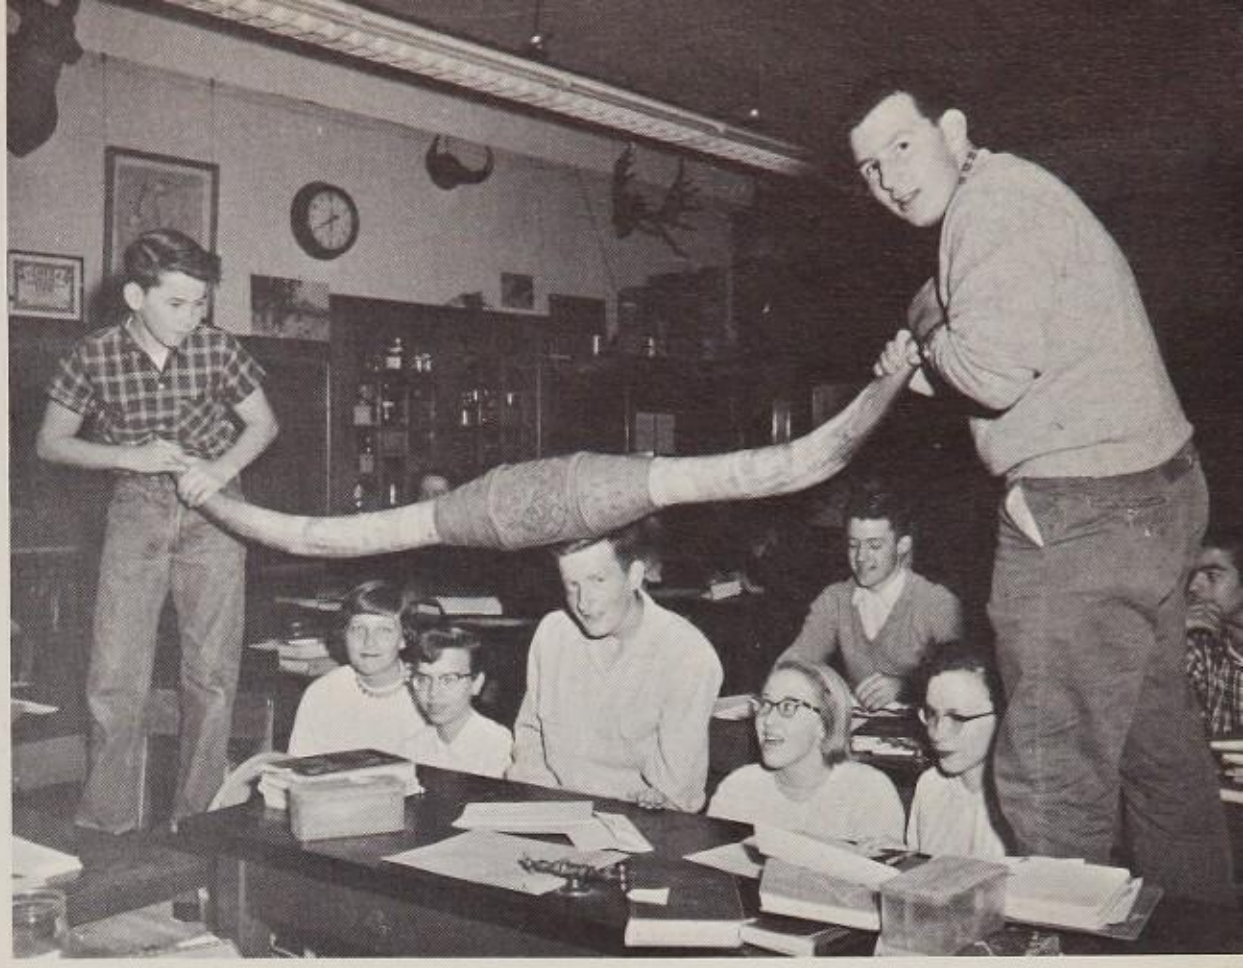
"He did it again!" sighs Mr. Hursh's fourth hour chemistry class as they watch another mysterious green cloud disintegrate into the air.

. . . frogs, test tubes

Sue Howard and Malcom McLetchie look on wonderingly as Mike Terry pours something into a gas bottle—which won't explode—he hopes.

It appears Jerry Alpeter is doomed as his biology classmates, Cliff VanBlarcon, Mary Ann Tuholske, Mary Taylor, Charlie Eggers, Pauline Slusher and Joyce Karakas get out of hand.





Taking the "bull" (Mike Soule) by the horns are Ted Lindstrith and Fred Stahl as Margaret McRobb, Barbara Howard, Barbara Stringer, Sue Thompson, Al Snyder, and Lee Stanton look on.

. . . and $H_2O + H_2SO_4$ . . .

Paul Alpert chews his pencil as he thinks out an answer for Mr. Regetz's test in general science. Other hard workers are Boyd Gustke, Jerry Buckbinder, Jerry Carline George Kubike, Carol Kennedy, Joyce Booth, Ken Agerskov, Gail Sanford, Frank Clair, Rob Mester, and Kay Snow.

Breeds

John Holbrook, in World History class, points out there are only a few days left to register; while looking on are: Pat O'Dell, Mr. Gibbard, Walter Sutch, Shirley Davis, Mike Corless.

Searching for Mr. Cook's idea of Economics are: (l. to r.) Dick Sisler, Ron Richards, Randy Rodgers, Pete Webster, Keith Till, Dave Goddard, Dave Rightler.

Pointing out facts of the Revolutionary War is Pete Hammerton with Howard Pagel, Antonia Couretas, Jan Gratopp, Rosemary Nellis, and Bob Gray looking on.

Hill and

The government class watches while Judy Lenaway and Joyce Siaskiewicz give a Republican talk.

Wearing the bow tie in Civics is Bob Bohman, while (l. to r.) Phil Eastham, Bob Gibson, Wanda Rachoza, Linda Murray, Bonnie Fox, Matthew Mihalko look on.

"Now keep both hands on the keyboard," says teacher, Miss Gohla, to pupils Joan Snyder, Linda Herrick, Eleanor Roberts, Kay Wittmer, Joan Ojala, Elaine Coulton, Felice Gardener, Ann Gierhart and Ray Runnels.

It appears that Filers, Bonnie Mielke, Carol Vagan, Susan Patton, Aleta Baird, Linda Johansson, Mary Beth Boyle, and Cora Bristol are working their fingers to a nub while Bob Bain seems to be taking things easy.

. . . the home row,

brief forms.

Looks as if the people in this typing class are under the impression it's easier to write it out than type it.

"I still think it's easier to write long hand," says Gail Carter, Judy Cawker, Joanne Ferris, Judy McClure, Margery Horn, Marilynn Pflaum and Nancy Behm as they struggle with shorthand.

What sort of a story do you suppose John Samarzich is telling Jim Buhl, Pat Cochrane, Jim Emerson and Dick Dunn in general business.

"The quick brown fox jumped over the lazy brown dog." This sentence seems to be occupying Priscilla Whileford, Marion Retell, and Pat Forbes.

It Looks like Carol Unger, Roberta Massey, Wilma Hutton, and Jim Atkins are quite interested in each others papers while Mr. Spector explains to Judy Cheli a puzzling question.

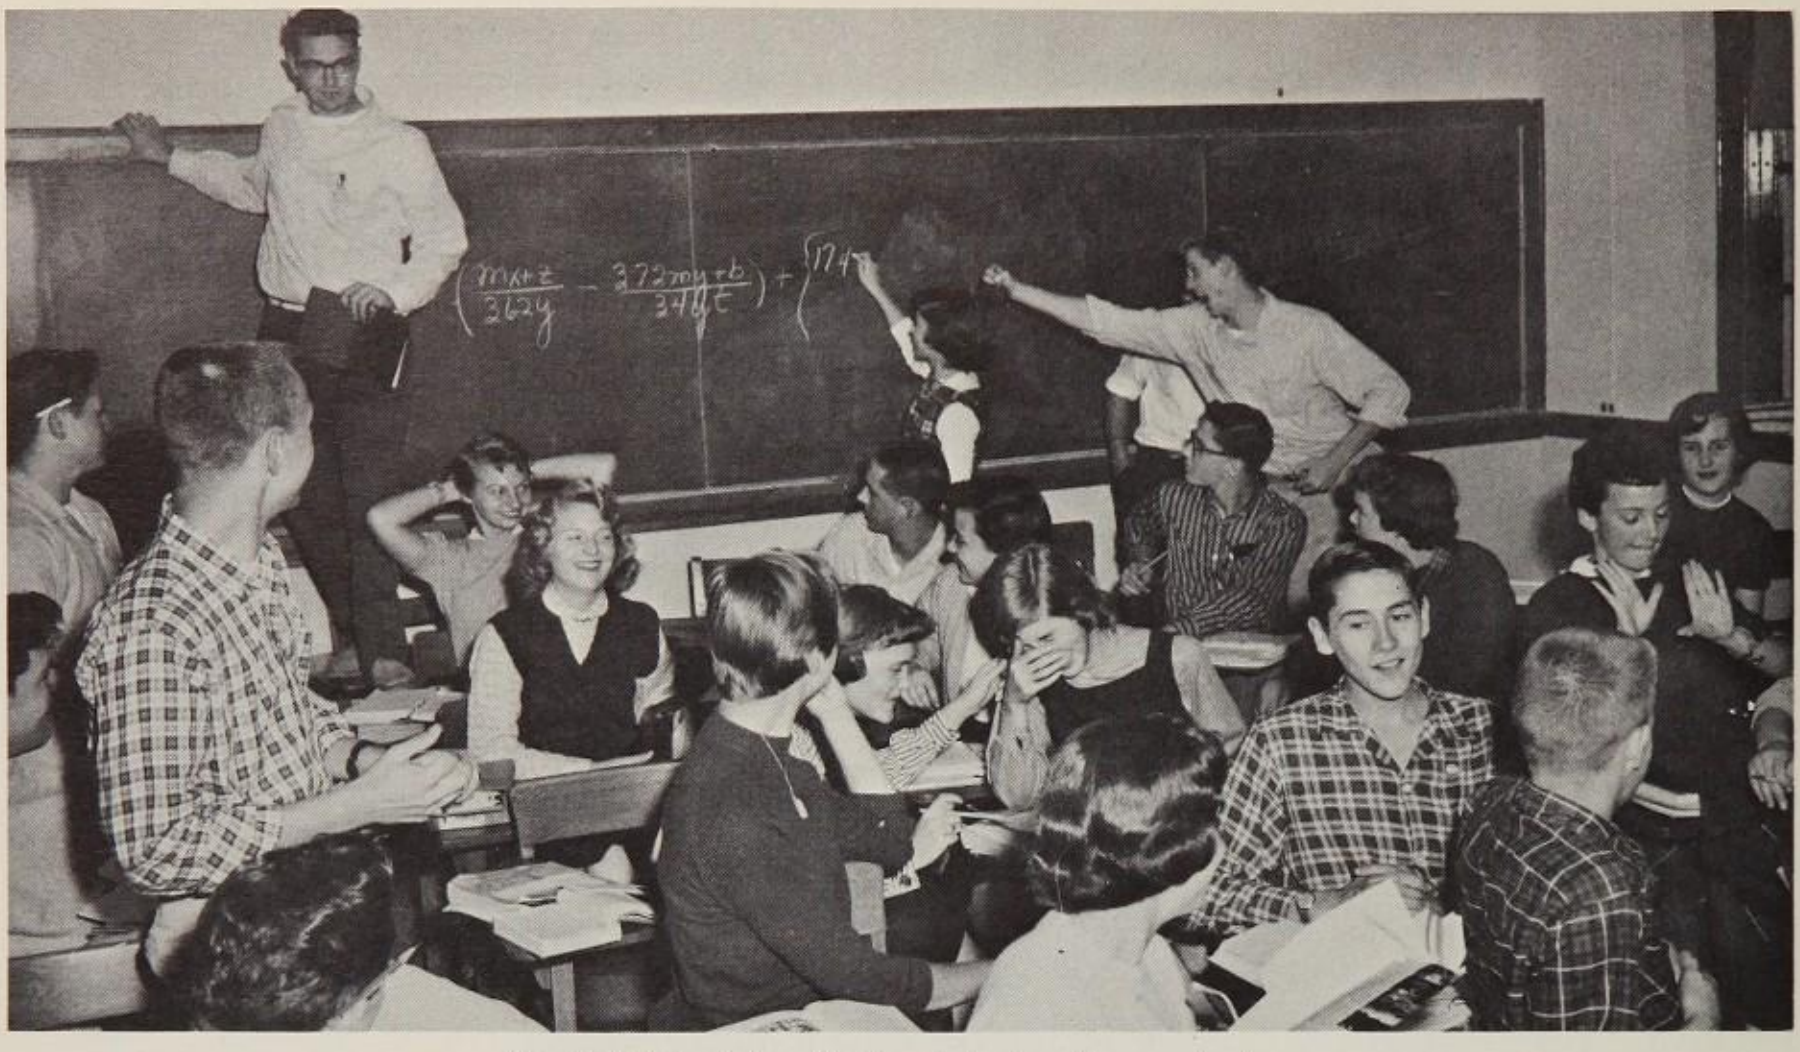
It's nice to see that Dennis Sinclair is so engrossed in what he's reading. But Joan Sangle, Jackie Gillespie, Linda Martin, Brenda Palazzolo and Dianna Gray are quite amused.

Sharon Kitchen (l.) is hard at work while Gail Sanford looks like she's about ready to hit the sack.

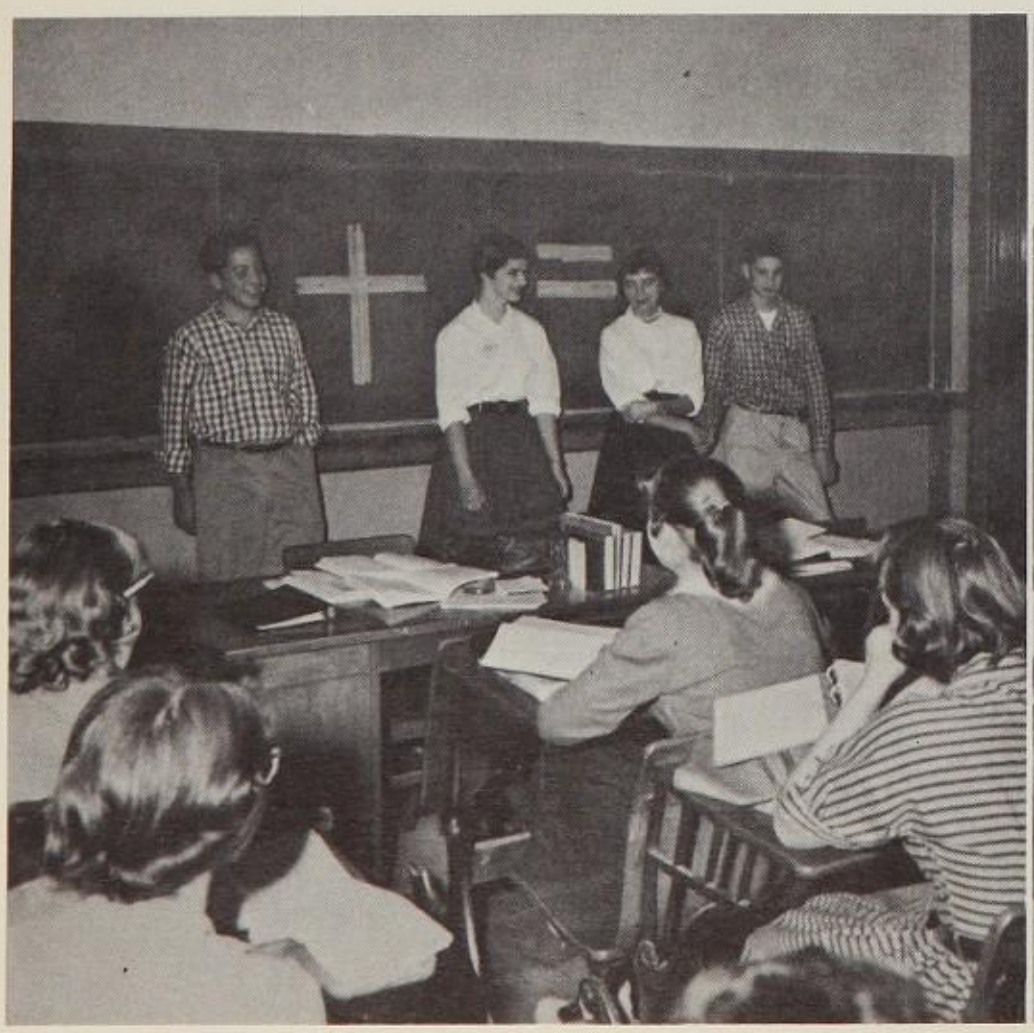
Just for the yearbook these typing students appear to be working hard. They're quite convincing.



Mrs. Perkins' algebra 3 class just doesn't seem to be concentrating . . . Bill Young has decided that he wants a handful of the teacher's hair. Anne Speer plays "patty-cake", while Julie Pond convulses over Jackie Macartney's joke. Dennis Pasteur clutches the blackboard as he stands on his desk to view the scene.

. . . triangles. the value of "x",

"Boy + girl = loving couple" . . . this timely idea is demonstrated by Carl Nielson, Joan Hollo, Wilma Sewell, and Alan Potts.



"It's not right, is it?" Lanny Southwell struggles with a problem in Business Arithmetic. Also at the board are Ron Brown, Mickey McNaughton, and Kathy Macklon.

and complex fractions . . .

Measuring Bob Carbone's head are Cathy Birchmeier, Margaret Ashton, Nancy Smisek, Karen Hammond, and Tony Cassani. That's one way to find the volume of a sphere!

Wilbert Kortryk, Larry Lackaye, Dean Flippo, Darlene Guibord, and Mary Gibbs are doing some very difficult (?) problems in geometry.

. . . amo,

amare,

As this picture is being taken it looks like Miss Hetzman has become the number one teacher around here with her two little words, "No homework!"

si si,

"Long live France!" screams Spanish student, Carol Kline. Her classmates yell Vive La France, or something like that.

et eleve . . .

Maybe Lucille Kuebler is laughing at her own French accent as she shows her friends, Sandra Storm and Sue Meyer an article in a newspaper.

. . . a stitch in time . . .

A few helping hands sure make the job go quicker as proven by Shirley Allen, Linda Penley, Carole Hardman and Arlene Ojala. I'm only wondering how they're all going to fit in it when it's done.

. . . Friday's feast . . .

"These little appetizers are good and all that, but lets get to the steak, huh?" say Jo Ann Coulter, Margaret Smart, Joyce Reynolds, Pat Cochrane, Lois Schlaff, and Lillian Wilson.

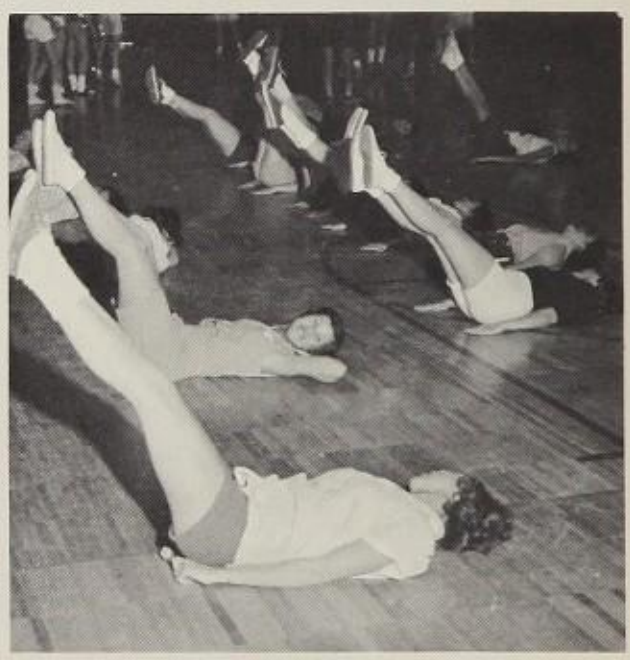
. . . and baby's bath . . .

Tenderly Janice Francis raises the doll used in Child Care so it's taped arm doesn't fall off and shows it to Nancy Stubrick, Karen Cornelius, Lucy Prasatek, and Margaret Vincent.

Ho, hum . . . guess I'll go back to study hall . .

Come and get me, but watch it -- I'm tricky!

. . . tank suits, cold showers,



Do you think you can last another hour, kid?

Learning self protection, girls?

and straight hair . . .

Gee! Another week and I'll make first string.

"You missed the brake, but you got that bug."

. . . clutch!! shifting

"Gee, Ginny, I think 60 is fast enough."

and wide, fast turns . . .

"Where's the brake?"
"What Brake?"

" . . . and yesterday when that truck got stuck in the ditch . . . "

"Of course cars run on oil, silly."

"This is the only part I'm missing in my car," says Harold Brondum to (l. to r.) Gary Wendt, Ken Schoenback, Gilbert Field, and Francis Pineau. "Maybe that's why it doesn't work!"

Setting up type is a man's job from the looks of things. Dick Taylor, Joe Marine, and John Klinde backed by Jack Hawk, Bob Gray, and Dave Roberts show some of their talent on the job.

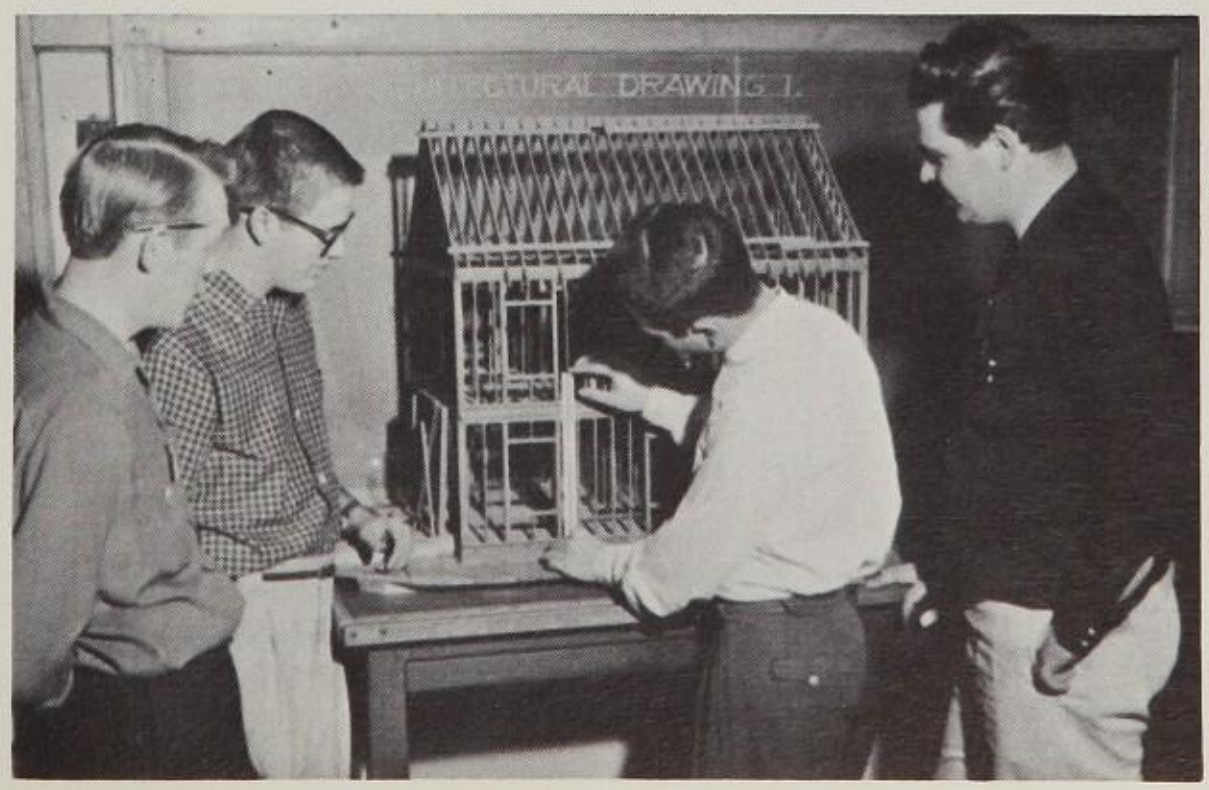
Mechanical drawing can be pretty confusing. However, it doesn't appear to be giving too much trouble to Jerry Rutta, Frank Nicholson, Dave Newson, Bob Martin, Doug Field, John McMeekin, Jim Yoes or Craig Rutherford.



It would appear that our building architects, Gary Clair, Carlin Orr, Paul Alpert, and Malcolm Evans are studying frame construction or checking to see if the ruler is straight.

"One, two kick — one, two kick," say Jim White, Joe Fischer, and Mike Van Hala.

The concert band, working under their new director, Mr. Joseph Parker, has built a fine reputation. They gave the first winter concert in the history of the band, performed at the regional convention of Rotarians, gave a spring concert, and went to the band festival, where they were rated by a group of judges. Members also participated in marching band activities.

Bob Manser wrestles the runner to the ground with Jim Sierens, Don Rossoll, and Duke Sekeres running over to help.

Royal Oak finished the 1956 football season in fourth place in the B. C. L. with a season record of five wins, three losses, and one tie.

Injuries crippled the Acorns in the early stages of the season. The team lost close ones to arch-rival Grosse Pointe and to Ford-son in the last minute of the game. In the last four games, RO was unscored upon.

Climaxing the season was a 19-0 win over Birmingham on Thanksgiving Day, which gave Royal Oak the possession of the Little Brown Jug perma-nently, since the series will be discontinued.

After an exciting win over Birmingham, Royal Oak ran into some bad luck and dropped 10 of the remaining 14 games. Besides their 62-60 win over Birmingham, highlight of the season was a 56-54 win over Fordson. This marked the last game for Acorn guard Dave Richey, who was considered one of the best basketball players to come out of Royal Oak in years. The Oaks counted three victories in B.C.L. competition to tie Wyandotte for fifth place. Royal Oak lost their regional game with Berkley, 45-41.

Royal Oak placed fourth in the state meet at East Lansing, where they reached their peak after a year of breaking pool, school, state, and national records. Dave Gillanders, RO's butterfly breaststroker, ended a great season by breaking state and national records with a :57.5 clocking. Ralph Nutter set a state record in the hundred-yard backstroke, winning in a terrific :58.8. Finally, the medley relay, who set a national mark earlier in the season with a 1:47 mark, set a new state record in 1:47.9.

The story of a man's search for Paradise or Shangri-La was the timely theme for the Atwas presentation "LOST HORIZON" which was presented on the nights of November 16-17. It provided an escape from the tensions and problems of a modern world not only for the cast but for the entire audience. The members of the cast were: Dave Hector, Jo Anne Sneed, Hal Adams, Beth Hagadone, Roberta Braman, Karen Last, Sue DeHart, Pete Webster, O. L. Porter, George Lockwood, Tom Hayden, Garry Stone, Karen Hauck, Lynne Buri, and Michael Stein.

"You Can't Take It With You"

Entire senior cast of the play "You Can't Take It With You" at a curtain call.

RODHS Auditorium
April 5 and 6, 1957 8:00 P.M.

Martin Vanderhof's (Jerry Keyes) philosophy of life was that of an idealist and in contrast Mr. Kirby's (Tom Hayden) idea of living emphasized modern man's dependence upon material wealth for true happiness.

The action produced by the collision of the two elements not only made an humorous play, but also provoked a person to think about reaching a "happy medium" in his own life.

Art Beesley, assisted by Ann Harris, snaps his suspenders as Tom Hayden, Jerry Keyes, and Eileen Swartz patiently wait for him to calm down.

Hal Adams casually plays the piano as ballet dancer Sally Maloney strikes a restful pose. Looking with foreign pleasure are two Russian immigrants, Helen Tsertos and Jim Lau.

The Royal Oakers start to warm up to the situation as the Oaks increase their lead over the Maples at the Turkey Day Game.

The Last Turkeyday Game and We Won . . .

Diane Gibson looks dubious when the blue and white crepe paper starts to "run", but Donna Reick, Ron Sharpe, and Chuck Howell aren't too worried about the matter.

The big, strong, handsome DUMMY on Nancy Sternberg's car "waves" its hand victoriously after the Oaks win the game.

This may look like a fashion show, but it's just a few of the many sharp couples at the dance. Here we see John Oliver, Sally Maloney, Linda Dargus, Lee Burnett, Mickey Bromley, and Louise Falkowski chatting.

Sir Gallahad to the rescue of a fine lady in distress.

. . . Later we danced . . .

The final product of all the hard work put into the dance paid off with one of the finest Thanksgiving Dances we've ever had.

What form is this?

Shake it in the East, then . . . . . .

Ready, aim, ...

. . . Then the days were busy

Hey girls, listen to the latest!

"Three's a crowd, bud."

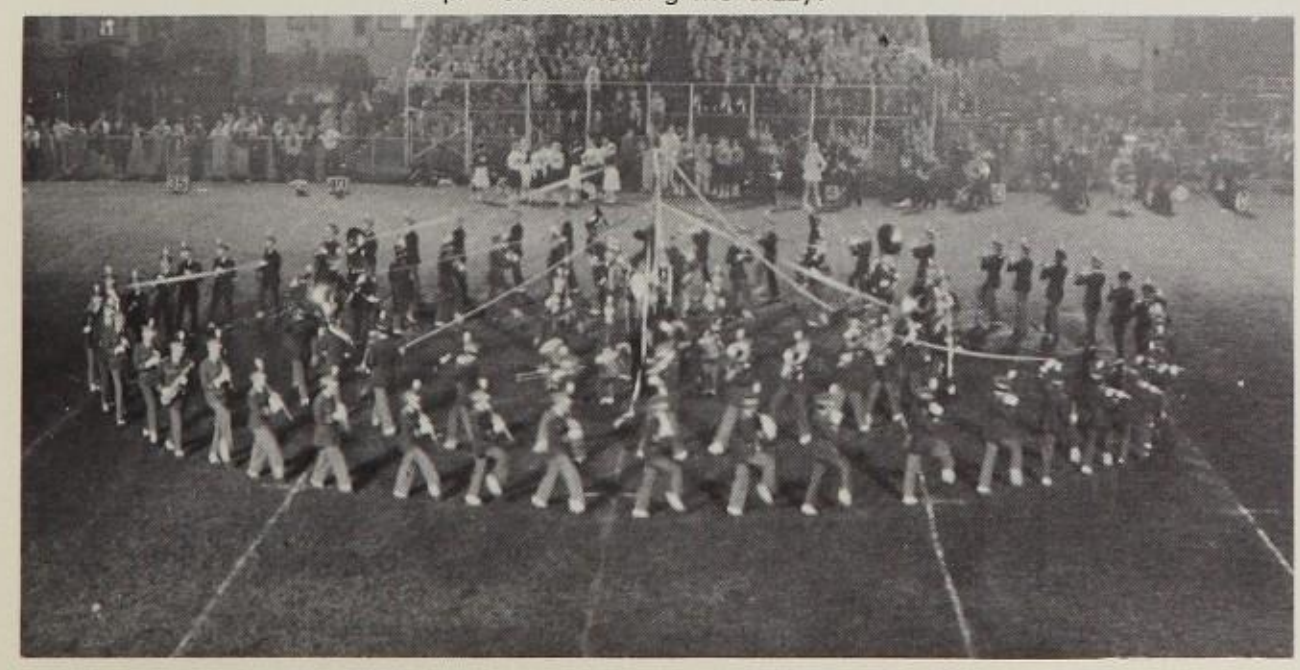
" . . . . . and where did you say you-all is from?"

and the Cafeteria

sometimes empty.

Is everybody happy?

Stop! You're making me dizzy.



Commencement Dance Highlighted

Nag, nag, nag.

"Something's burning!"

You're in it, Art.

The winter season

Some walk, some dance, some?

Oh, to be young again!

Blow Gabriel, blow.

"It's over! We win! What'd I tell you!"

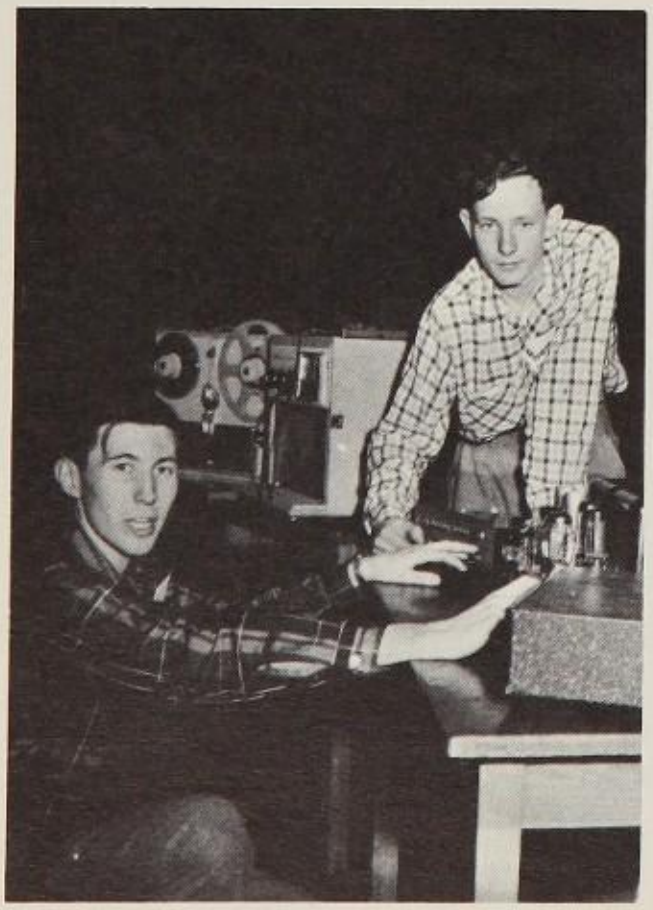
Even the CHAMPS work hard.



You see! This is how it works.

They're on the air; they finally made it.

Martha Cavanaugh gives her opinion on the topic being discussed as (L to R) Gary Buswink, Tom Bird, Julia Douglass, and Lynne Edwards listen and glance at their notes.

Radio Workshop has made this year one of its busiest by adding the work of the new radio station WOAK to their regular work on station WEXL. Headed by Miss Brown, Mr. Bretz, and Mr. Mead, this group has done a fine job broadcasting our basketball games and swim meets.

. . . Radio Workshop continued to report . . .

Our Motto . . .

He who never made a mistake never made a discovery.

. . . Our Flower . . .

White mum

and Our Colors

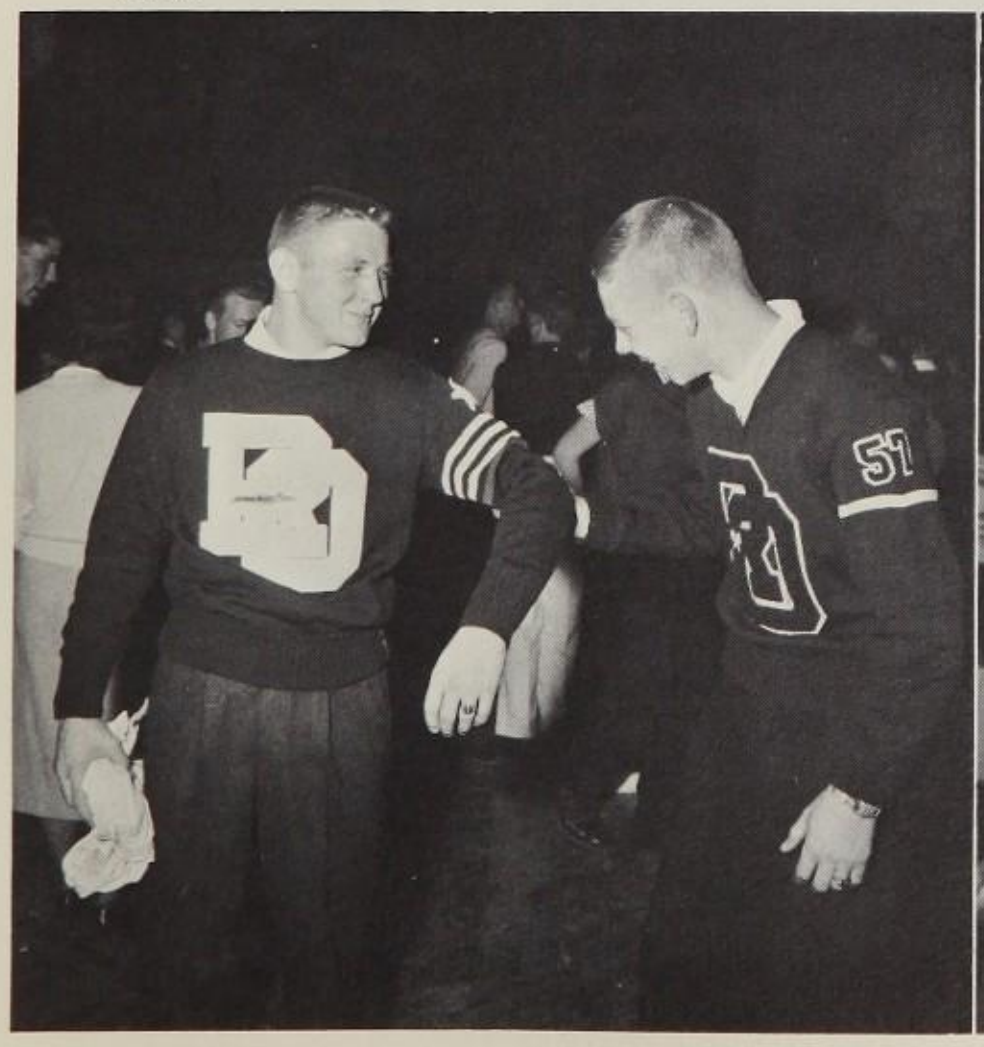
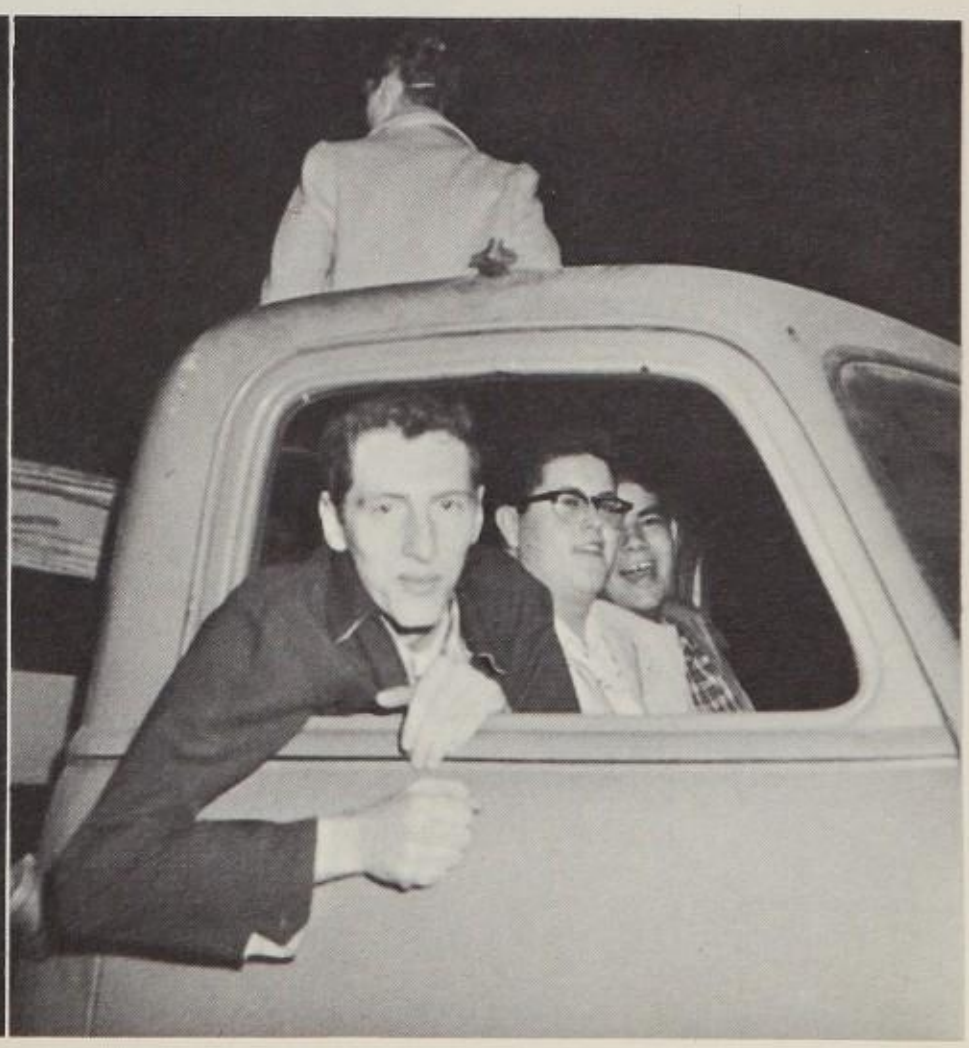
Jeannine Day with the glasses and tonsils, Bob Trumpheller on her left, and Fran Warth and Colin Stafford in front of them, seem very happy about the touchdown that was just made by the "Blue and White".

. . . the Varied Activities . . .

"Man - dig them crazy stripes," says Bill Maddock as he admires Bob Leich's array, at an "All-School" Party.



Don Cleary seems about ready to jump out as Jerry Ceccarelli and Chuck Hall enjoy the ride.



Is that Mr. "Tennessee Ernie Ford" Coughlin yodeling at a senior party? Mr. Hood with the top hat and Roberta Braman in the background look rather dubious.

Mr. Tenhave is about to release a long suppressed desire on Chuck Norton as, from left to right, Bob Trumpheller, Bob Sanchagrin, Doug Paul, and Bill Maddock assist.

But what will Don say, Miss Owens?

Let's all do somthing real exciting!

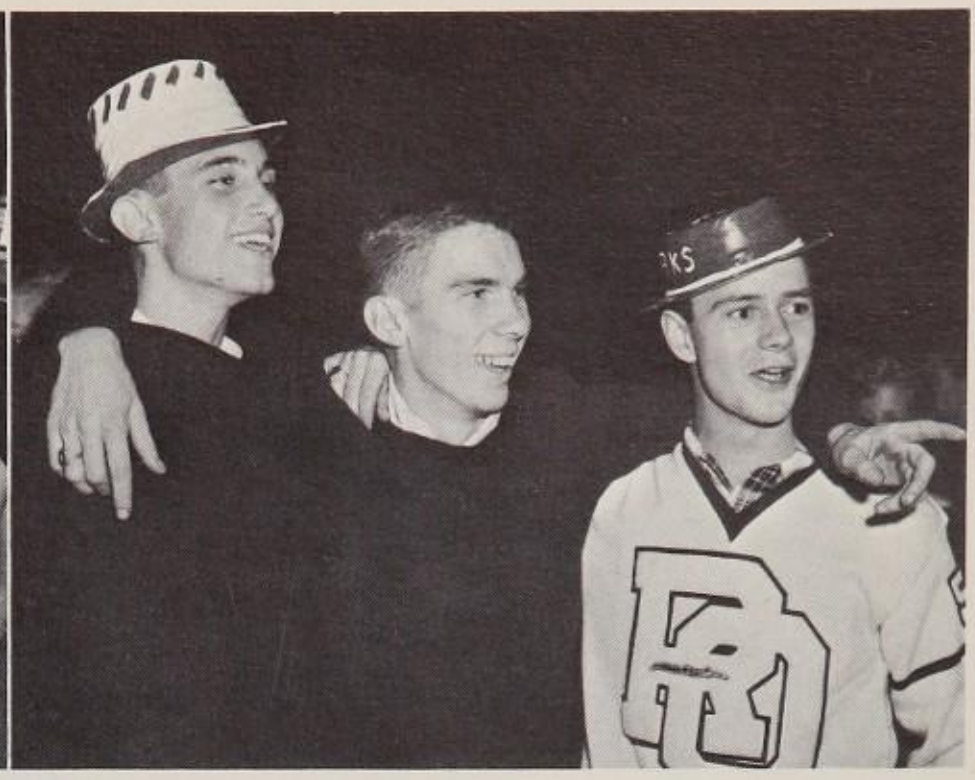
Let's Make-up!!



What's in the corner boys?

. . . and After School . . .

Down to the bottomless pit goes the contents of that bottle.

Mr. Tenhave is releasing another suppressed desire on Kathy Czismadia as Pat Siers and Nancy Scobie look on.

Bill Maddock isn't fighting the fear of drowning because he knows that fountains been broken for two months.

. . . the Senior Classes . . .

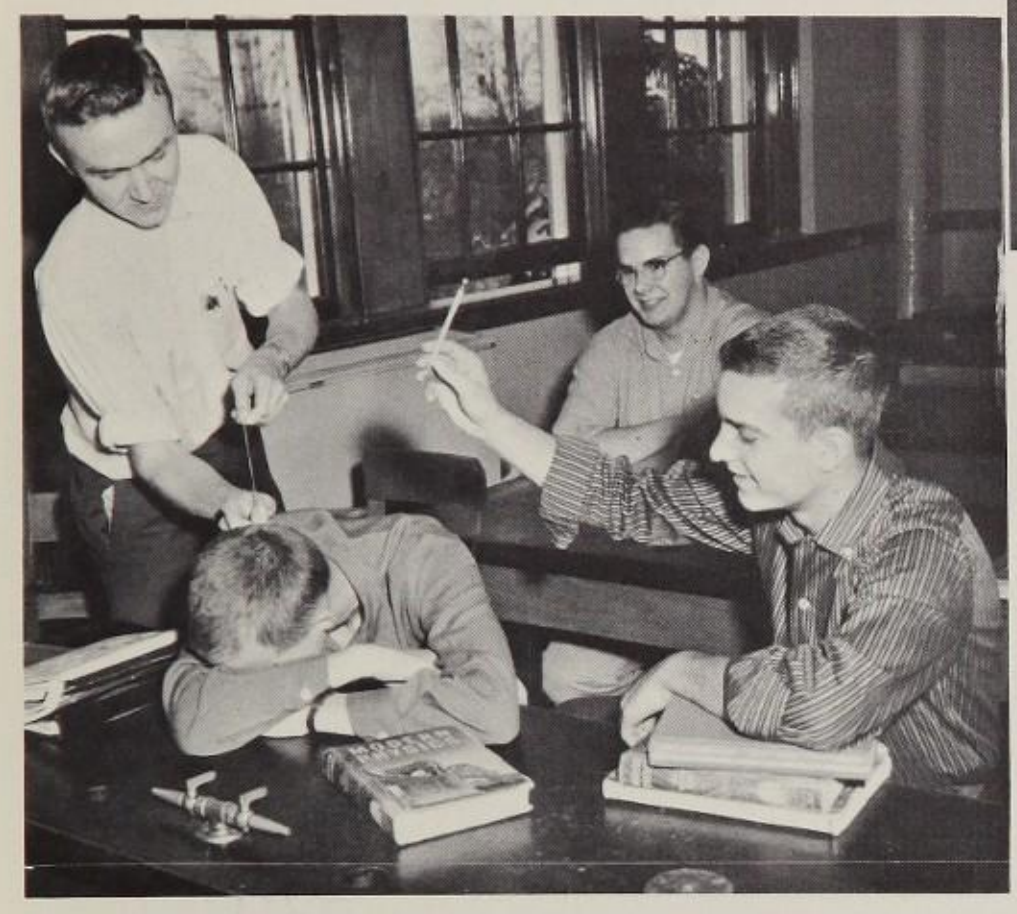
Mr. Montie is trying to explain something to two of his more "intelligent" English 8 students, Joyce Bogg and Mike Folsom.

Nuella Kathan seems to be busily trying to figure out the adding machine in her model office.

"Now, prove your point, Mr. Coughlin", say Chuck Richards, Ron Bassey, Larry Tarrant, Neil South, Martha Elliot, and Kay DuPont in an uproarious Sociology class.

. . . where We Studied . . .

Retta Cundiff seems to be testing Greg Gillmor's muscles as Jeannine Day gazes into his liquid blue eyes. This is a Soc. class!



One of the more active Physics classes as Neil South gets beaten over the head with rubber bands by Larry Tarrant and pencils by Dave Richey.

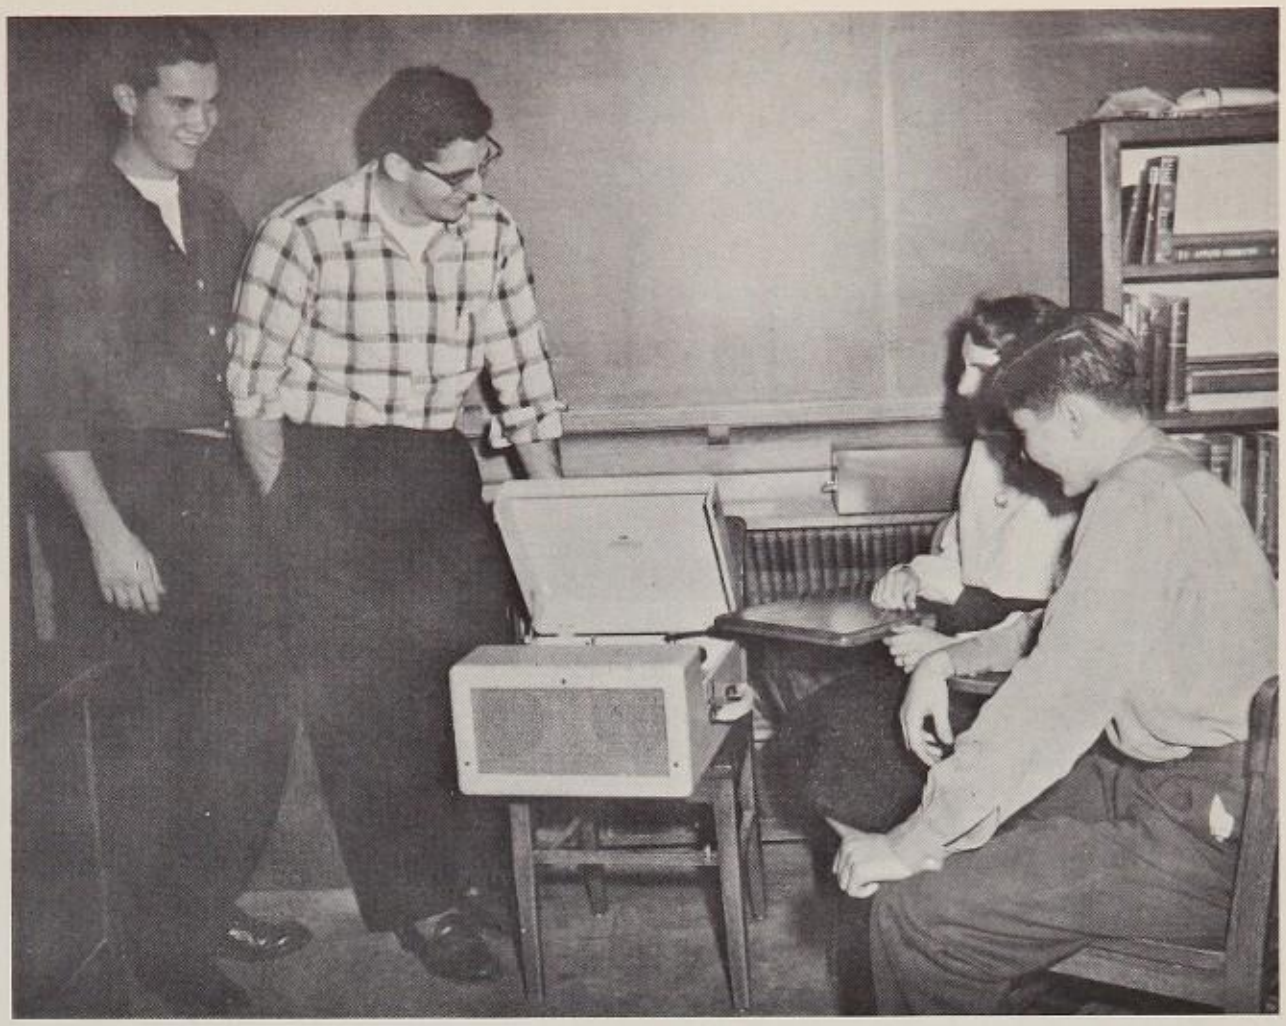
Doubled up with laughter in Mrs. Hoffman's Trig. class is Nancy Couper, as Greg Gillmor, Don Cates, Bill Maddock, Doug Paul, Jeannine Day, Chuck Norton, Dave Roberts, Bob Trumpheller, Jim Fraus, and John Couretas join the merriment.

. . . some "form" of Mathematics . . .

"Math class was never like this". Modeling "figures" are, from left to right, Nancy White, Pat Siers, and Marie Marks while Ron Crawford and Ron Baker watch, in Mrs. Meraw's General Math Class.



One way to get through Mr. Rosen's English 8 class is to listen to records, as Garry Smith, Sheldon Goldman, Margaret Vincent, and Bob Pitt have discovered.

. . . and we brushed up on Our English.

A rather large size theme is being written by Tom Arnold, Diane Howle, Pete Moga, Wilma Taylor, and Jim Roberts in Mr. Morren's Comp. class.

. . . but most of all we'll remember

Royal Oak Dondero High School.

Our Small World

This year RODHS had the privilege of sharing its work and fun with two exchange students from Europe. Through the scholarships offered by the American Field Service, Margaretha Sparre and Henri Geoffroy were able to come and spend a year in Royal Oak with us.

Margaretha, called Maggen by most of the students, has her real home in Djursholm near Stockholm, Sweden. For her first 6 months in America, Margaretha lived with Martha Elliot and her family. For her 12A semester, however, she was the guest of Louise Gibson.

Henri came to us from the gay city of Paris, France. His American home was with the Phillip Miller family.

Margaretha and Henri came to Royal Oak with the idea of giving as well as receiving. Not only did everyone gain two new interesting friends, but they also gained a great deal more knowledge about Sweden and France, and international goodwill and understanding. Both students will return to their homes in Europe this summer and continue their schooling next fall.

All the students of RODHS would like to take this opportunity, Margaretha and Henri, to tell you how very much we've enjoyed knowing you and having you with us. Good luck in your future life, and good bye for now.

Margaretha, "This sure has been a wonderful year. I will never forget all the friends I've made here who have helped to make this so interesting and enjoyable."

Henri, "I came, I saw, I liked, I will remember."

A Journalist Missing.

(Epic fragment from the Izzy the Dopester series)
Isadore Rosen, a journalist of local fame, was taken from the hallowed and ivy twined towers of Dondero high on the night of January 25th. Rosen was last seen in the presence of a group of Amazonian Knights riding wildly out the Via Crooks. It is believed that offers by the denizins of Kimball Castle to sponsor the writer's proposed Arthurian epic, The Lancer, enticed Rosen into a tryst from which he was spirited to the dungeons of Hoot's Hostlery. The following fragments are presented In Memoria.

ANNUAL GAMES WITH SHERRARD

(Epic fragment from the June, 1937 Dwyer Buzz)
By Isadore Rosen, News Editor

The Dwyer and Sherrard basketball teams clashed Monday, March 8, in an exciting game filled with fast passing, dribbling and trickey shots . . . the Dwyerites came back to win by the score of 12-8 . . .
The second game took place March 9, when the Sherrard team swamped the Dwyers by the score of 22-9. High scorers were: I Rosen, Dwyer 4; . . . Although many Dwyer pupils expressed disappointment at losing the last game, others reflected that the series had resulted in a split, and that consequently all was well.

ISADORE ROSEN

Being the clever originator of "Izzy the Dopester" and sports editor of the Light both boost Isadore's claims to fame, and after leaving Northern he plans to call on Wayne, where he'll major in English and journalism.

Chills and thrills are derived from deep mystery novels about Sherlock Holmes and Ellery Queen, all of which Izzy calls "hi-brow fiction."

Since he's been here at Northern, Isadore has tried out for all of the sports teams from track to ping pong but to no avail—he blames it on his underweight—'er sumpin'.

Complaining of a very dull life, Isadore, however, manages a few dates on his rare nights off and confesses that he dotes on swing and Harry James but "can absorb some classics."

Salami, baked beans, and eggs spell an ideal menu for Iz, but he detests people who don't know what they're talking about in class.

Isadore declares himself a truly vociferous speaker and says also that writing and editing of the Light are "very entertaining."

You'll hear that remark many times about telephone girls. Most people recognize that girls who work for Michigan Bell are not only attractive, but also smart and useful citizens.

When Jean started her job, she had no telephone experience. But she was trained with other beginners by friendly, understanding supervisors. Today she's proud of her work; enjoys a fine salary, vacations with pay, regular wage increases, and many new friends.

Jean was delighted from the very first by the clean, pleasant surroundings, by the regularly scheduled mid-morning and midafternoon "breaks" for relaxing in comfortable lounge rooms. And she found the company thoughtful and considerate in so many ways, such as sending girls home in taxis when they worked the late evening shift.

Telephone work offers many advantages! Why not get in touch with us now? Find out more about the interesting jobs from which you can choose after graduation—customer representative, telephone operator, accounting and clerical work.
